

Divine Love Newsletter

Volume 12, No. 4

July 2026

FROM THE EDITORS

Dear Friends in Divine Love,

We are pleased to bring you another issue of the Divine Love Newsletter. May the creative offerings, reflections, reports, and community news uplift your heart and encourage you on your journey of prayer, service, and the receiving of God's Love.

In this issue:

- The Joy of Mary Magdalene, Jesus, and Little Children — Lisa Sims presents a joyful and life-filled image of Jesus and Mary Magdalene, reminding us that true spirituality is not heaviness or fear, but joy, presence, freedom, and Love.
- God Is Love — George Raizman reflects on the central truth that God's nature is Love, inviting readers to contemplate this foundation of the Divine Love path.
- Two Kenyan Pastors Use Eva's Book to Teach Their Congregations — Eva Peck shares the inspiring story of pastors in Kenya using her book Salvation to teach and encourage their congregations, showing how Divine Love teachings continue to reach hearts around the world. (Ron Henderson is also ministering in Africa and providing outreach material. It is wonderful that our Heavenly Father is guiding us to spread his truths worldwide.)
- Unfolding Dream in Drimiopsis — Debra Taylor reports on her trip to the Children's Sanctuary Namibia, where love, care, and generous support are helping create a true home for orphaned and vulnerable children. Judy Dunbar revisited the Sanctuary and was awestruck by what the financial support has helped create since her visit in 2019.
- Second Annual Women's Retreat in Trinidad — Maureen Cardoso shares highlights of a beautiful women's retreat centered on compassion, healing, sisterhood, prayer, movement, and Divine Love. Be sure to check out their video.
- HappyDays Farm May 2026 Retreat — Lorraine Borchers reports on a loving retreat in Oregon, where participants gathered for prayer, messages, fellowship, healing, and spiritual renewal. They were told in a message that they were living life as God intended and encouraged to continue this upon returning home.
- "The Gifts We Have Been Given" Retreat — Carol Gallagher reflects on a deeply meaningful retreat at her home in Johnson City, New York, filled with prayer, messages, healing light, family blessings, and the awakening of spiritual gifts. Carol shares her deepest gratitude for the wonderful blessing that her daughter Kaitlin received from our Heavenly Father. It is such a blessing to see another soul connect with our God, especially a family member. We are very happy for Carol and Kaitlin.

Also included in this issue are opportunities for prayer and fellowship across the miles, a poem by Debra Taylor, community news, Divine Love resources, and an excerpt from Revelation 32 of Dr. Samuels' messages concerning the receiving of the Divine Love by Jesus' original disciples.

With Love and Blessings,

THE JOY OF MARY MAGDALENE, JESUS, AND LITTLE CHILDREN (LISA SIMS WITH THE HELP OF AI)

There is a picture of Jesus that has been painted for centuries—solemn, distant, almost burdened by holiness. But what if that picture is incomplete? What if the truth is far more alive?

In a message communicated by Judas, we are given a glimpse of Mary Magdalene as well as the atmosphere surrounding Jesus himself: Not heaviness, but joy. Not distance, but life. The impressions given are that

- Mary was always smiling, even laughing
- She had a sunny disposition, always cheerful – being a Light for the disciples
- Jesus too was usually of good humor
- Jesus was life
- Children dashed towards him – they felt the great Love his soul harbored
- Religion should be joy, happiness and freedom

Mary Magdalene is remembered here not through doctrine, but through presence. She was joyful, radiant – a source of Light among those who often struggled, argued, and misunderstood. And in this, we are told, she was very much like Jesus.

In fact, we learn in Revelation 32: The first followers to receive the Divine Love, beyond the Second Death received through Dr. Samuels: “...my disciples had no concise notion of what the Divine Love really was, and the one who had the best approximate knowledge of it was Mary Magdalene, through a certain predisposition of her soul;” (Jesus, 13/4/1955)

This reshapes something deep within the heart: Joy is not separate from spirituality – it is a sign of it. As the Psalmist wrote: “In Your presence is fullness of joy.”—Psalm 16:11

Jesus was not withdrawn, somber or distant. He was alive – playful with children, warm with those around him, accessible, human, and filled with a Love that drew others naturally.

Children, especially, recognized this. They ran to him—not out of obligation, but out of delight. Because they felt something. They felt the safety, the warmth, the openness of a soul filled with Divine Love. Jesus desired for his followers: “That my joy may be in you, and that your joy may be full.” (Gospel of John 15:11)

There is a quiet contrast drawn in the message between children and adults. Children live in the moment. They immerse themselves fully in what is before them.

Adults, by contrast, often live elsewhere — in the past, or in an imagined future. And in doing so, they miss the only place where life truly exists: Now.

This is not merely practical advice. It is spiritual guidance. For the present moment is where the soul opens, where Love is received, where God is encountered.

The message also speaks candidly about religion when it becomes bound in formality and control. Where fear governs, where rules overshadow Love, where expression is restrained — then something essential is lost. Because true religion, we are told, is not a burden. It is Joy, Happiness, Freedom. This is not carelessness—it is the natural expression of a soul that knows it is Loved.

In a time when women were often diminished or overlooked, this message reaffirms something simple and powerful: Jesus did not treat women with disrespect. On the contrary, his response would have been one of tenderness, openness, and equality.

The image offered is striking: Not distance, but embrace. Not judgment, but welcome. And in this, we see again the nature of Divine Love—always lifting, never diminishing.

Running through the entire message is a quiet invitation: Return to simplicity, to presence, joy and openness. To the kind of heart that children naturally possess—and adults must rediscover. Not by becoming naïve, but by becoming free.

There is something deeply healing in this vision: A Jesus who laughs. A Mary who shines. A circle of souls learning not only truth, but joy. And perhaps that is part of the path we often overlook: Not only to grow in Love, but to live in it — here, now, in this moment. Because this moment—fully lived, fully open—is where Heaven begins.

GOD IS LOVE (GEORGE RAIZMAN WITH THE HELP OF AI)

GOD IS LOVE

God is Love. Man was made in the image of the Father. But through the gift of the Father's Love (Divine Love) man may through earnest, sincere prayer be transformed into the very essence and substance of the Father and become Divine child of God as the father is Divine, thus bringing you out of the darkness and into the Light.

This is what Jesus meant when he said that "You must be born again."

As well as "God is in you", that is the part which is your soul which comes from God and brings to us that awareness, knowing, that we are His greatest creation.

It is however devoid of the Father's Divine Love which will only come to the soul via the Holy Spirit, which is the Attribute of God that brings us this transforming Essence, through earnest, sincere prayer.

"Ask, and it shall be given you;
seek, and ye shall find;
knock, and it shall be opened unto you."

Matthew 7:7

Out of darkness...
Into Light.

Out of the human...
Into the Divine.

Through the Father's Love.

TWO KENYAN PASTORS USE EVA'S BOOK TO TEACH THEIR CONGREGATIONS (EVA PECK)

Recently on LinkedIn, a Pastor Ezra from Kenya wanted to connect with me. Since I do spiritual writing that I thought might benefit him, I accepted his request. We exchanged a few niceties and mutual blessings, and a few days later, he wrote: "I have seen your profile that you do write books. I am kindly requesting in a humble way if you could share copies with me so that I could give them to the children and the elder people in the society."

I referred him to my website page for free downloads and suggested he could print them locally. He responded: "It's my humble prayer and request if you could enable me to get them printed since the little funds I get from my farming I normally use in [meeting] the needs of the little kids that I'm taking care of from my home. Since the majority [of people] don't have smartphones, hard copies would be easily accessible to them because I will be teaching them and interpret it for them to get better understanding."

So I asked which particular book he would like, and how many copies. He wanted Salvation – "150 copies for the start." This is a small book, so I checked the cost and postage. Since the cost was considerable, I told him that I wanted to be sure that he really wanted those copies and would use them. I explained that the book takes a somewhat non-traditional approach to Salvation and therefore I wanted him to first read it himself as a PDF downloadable from my website.

He took a few days to read it and then responded: "Greetings my dear sister in Christ. Praise the Lord again. I have done reading through the book and it's so interesting and it will be of benefit to my congregation. Since I can see that it will be expensive for you to ship the copies from your side, I have a suggestion, my dear sister Eva. We have got some printing shops here whereby they can do it ... slightly cheaper [than the quote you received] So I am requesting in a humble way if you could send me the funds and I will do the printing of the copies. Afterwards I will distribute them to my congregation."

I sent him some money and requested photos of the printing and update on how the teaching was going, which he provided. This is what he shared: "Today I started teaching from the book and I will update you how my congregation understands the teachings. I was also blessed with one of my friends who's a pastor and when I told him about the book, he took a copy and was really interested in it."

A few days later, Pastor Ezra shared: "The teachings are ongoing and indeed I can see my congregation interested in the book, and I'm happy that they're enjoying it. Today I also received a call from the pastor [that I told you about] who is my friend. He told me that he was done with reading the book and that the content in it was so amazing. He even requested if there's a way he could get some copies [120] for his congregation because it would bring a great impact in his congregation."

So I learned a bit more about the other pastor, Gideon, who is apparently not tech-savvy or present on social media. The plan was, if I sent more money, for pastor Ezra to print additional books so that pastor Gideon can have copies for his congregation. Pastor Ezra promised to send me a photo of the book handover which he did.

Subsequently he wrote: "I would like to [again] sincerely thank you for your kindness and support in enabling us to print the Salvation Booklets. They have been such a blessing to our congregation, and many people have been encouraged and strengthened through the messages they contain. We truly thank God for using you to advance His Kingdom."

Considering what these two pastors are doing and how they are serving not only their congregations but also the underprivileged people and children in their society, I consider this mission work something worthy of my support and it is rewarding to read how many are being helped with the precious information that I have been freely given and inspired to put together in the book.

UNFOLDING DREAM IN DRIMIOPSIS (DEBRA TAYLOR)

Divinely Loved and Blessed are those who give of their hearts, souls, hands, and resources in support of the Children's Sanctuary Namibia. The love is palpable within the boundaries of the Sanctuary in stark contrast to the surrounding community.

CSNS Canada is the primary source of funds for the Sanctuary. Four of our board members were blessed to spend four days with the children and their caregivers from May 22 - 25, 2026. Judy Dunbar was the only one that had previously visited the grounds, in 2019, and was awestruck by what our financial support has helped create over the years.

Upon arrival, all the children and adults who live and work at the Sanctuary were gathered in the courtyard and performed a welcoming song and dance that lifted our spirits. What struck me immediately and deeply was the pure joy, love, and sense of family, of belonging that radiated from each child. My immense gratitude flows to San Chief Ita and Helge Mercker who transformed a simple soup kitchen into a remarkable, permanent (to age 18) home for 22 orphaned and/or abandoned children. At the same time, the Sanctuary continues to offer twice-weekly soup kitchen service to the children and elders of the greater community.

Despite a sad lack of funding to manifest the hopes and dreams for the Sanctuary, the children in residence are well cared for. Even the two most handicapped greeted us daily with love, joy, and brilliant smiles. It is likely they would not be alive today if not for the care and attention given them at our Sanctuary.

The amazing Zuma has worked tirelessly with a few other men to create and maintain a large veggie garden. It stands out like an oasis in an otherwise mostly sandy land. Several fruit trees have been planted, and it is easy to imagine a future of food security and sustainability.

Having brought several large suitcases filled with donations of clothing, shoes, toiletries, books and gardening tools, we felt like St Nick when the gifts were revealed. What a joy it was to witness both the children and their caregivers receiving these gifts. In addition, a couple of generous donors sent cash for purchasing special foods with which we created two very extravagant meals. Meat is rarely available, so we had a barbecue one day and spaghetti bolognese on another. I could hardly believe the quantities of food these little people ingested. Not a crumb was left on anyone's plate. Our newest board member, Louise, a native Namibian now living in Canada, put her culinary skills to work helping prepare the meals. On our last day, the soup kitchen served a hearty lentil and vegetable soup and a gigantic pot of rice to more than 100 local community children and a few of the elder women who care for them.

Nearing completion is a second family home that will accommodate eight more children. The available funding is not sufficient to bring the construction into livable form. Also in need of funding is a safe playground. Children need the exercise and joy that a playground offers and what currently exists is falling apart, rusty, and inadequate. Helge has been studying other playgrounds and is formulating a plan for an overhaul and expansion when funding arrives.

My overall impression is that we are indeed doing God's work at the Children's Sanctuary Namibia and His Hand is evident in all that is happening there.

SECOND ANNUAL WOMEN'S RETREAT IN TRINIDAD (MAUREEN CARDOSO)

Maureen Cardoso from Living Waters Spiritual Healing, along with Karen Swanson and Antoinette Marquis from the T&T Circle of Light in Trinidad, hosted a wonderful weekend gathering for women at the Second Annual Women's Retreat held at San Salvador Estate, Gran Couva, Trinidad on May 2-3, 2026.

Women gathered in a space of compassion, acceptance, grace, and Divine Love. The retreat became a sanctuary where each woman was invited to soften, open, and simply be — free from expectation, performance, or judgment.

Surrounded by the warmth and beauty of Trinidad, embraced by the sounds of nature and the nurturing energy of the land that San Salvador Estate embodies, the retreat became a space for rest, healing, renewal, sisterhood, and joyful connection. Through sharing experiences, Divine Love prayer, movement, a cacao ceremony, reflection, and dance, participants experienced deeper connections with themselves, each other, and the Divine. The highlights of the retreat are captured on a YouTube video.

HAPPYDAYS FARM MAY 2026 RETREAT (LORRAINE BORCHERS)

Eight participants, including four locals, gathered at Lorraine Borchers' HappyDays Farm in Dallas, Oregon, from May 13-17. The other four came from Illinois, Michigan, New York and Canada.

During the opening prayer, the group was greeted by Joan of Arc through Elizabeth Mack. In his message the next day, Confucius shared that this would be a healing retreat, that all present were healers and would work to heal not only brothers and sisters in the physical and spirit world, but also the Earth.

Other messages came from Jesus, Kea Atta Kem and Marty Ketterman. All the messages can be read here.

The group also enjoyed preparing and eating tasty meals, individual meditative walks around the property, and discussions after each prayer. In addition, there were two hands-on healing sessions that allowed for mutual learning and sharing of experiences.

By the end of the retreat on Sunday, the attendees were a cohesive group who had shared love, laughter, learning and upliftment. In fact, Timothy, a Stellar friend, had told them during an earlier message that they were living life as God intended and encouraged everyone to continue this upon returning home.

Lorraine is open to individual or group retreat requests. If you are interested in spending retreat time at her lovely property, please email her.

“THE GIFTS WE HAVE BEEN GIVEN” RETREAT (CAROL GALLAGHER)

As I reflect on the weekend of June 4-8, here in my home in Johnson City, New York, I can only speak from my experience. Being a Lebanese home, there was plenty of food! Being a Divine Love home, we were bathed in that Love and healing light. And I have also experienced some wonders and miracles.

Al, Elizabeth, Jimbeau, Matt, Karen L, Karen J, Kristy, Catherine, Keyn, Cliff, Susan and I gathered for the three days to Eat. Pray. Love! Even Milo, my cat, attended all the prayer circles! The messages from spirit were abundant and powerful. Saturday evening, we went to an Italian Restaurant, Little Venice, which is a Broome County institution. On Sunday, we were blessed to have Jesus come through Al and give us each a blessing and a special affirmation of our individual gifts, along with encouragement to use them and keep watch for opportunities for them to awaken and be used! My son Colin and my daughter Kaitlin came for Sunday dinner and met everyone. What a huge blessing!

But I think the most wonderful and powerful thing happened for Kaitlin. She attended two sessions and, as she put it, “felt immensely blessed and grateful, that the light energy was palpable, from both seen and unseen souls.” She felt something powerful stir inside her. She shared with me how she prays and that she was unsure if she was “doing it right,” so I asked her to speak her prayer to me. The words blew me away to the depths of my soul! This young woman has had many challenges, and she is now earnestly on the Divine Love path. For one who is so fiercely private, sharing her innermost yearning with me was stunning.

This mom is overwhelmed by the power of Love that infilled her daughter’s soul! My deepest gratitude to God, the Celestial Angels and all the spirits who surrounded Kaitlin and all of us. Great thanks to all who attended and made connection with her. Months of hard work and preparation on my part pale in comparison to the wonders and miracles that took place here in the month of June 2026.

Revelation 32: The first followers to receive the Divine Love, beyond the Second Death.

I am here, Jesus.

I am here tonight to write you on some of the issues brought up in the discussion between yourself and the Doctor regarding the bestowal of the Divine Love and the time when it was possible for mortals and spirits to obtain it.

The first thing I would like to clarify is the rebestowal of the Divine Love upon mortals, and I should like to reiterate that my disciples had no concise notion of what the Divine Love really was, and that the one who had the best approximate knowledge of it was Mary Magdalene, through a certain predisposition of her soul; and while Peter and John had obtained a small portion of the Divine Love, it was not until the Pentecost that the Love came to them in that abundance that they were able to understand my true mission while on earth.

It is not true that I said, as it is recorded in the Gospel of John, that if I did not leave them the Holy Spirit would not come to them, and that my going to my Father was a necessary prerequisite for the comforter, or "Paraclete," to make its appearance; and that I would send it to them from my position close to the Father. This statement, like so many others in the New Testament, is not true, for the Divine Love had been given to mankind with my anointing by John, the Baptist to open my ministry, and it was not necessary for me to pass over into the spirit world for the Holy Spirit to begin its conveying of the Love into the souls of my disciples and men willing to listen to my Glad Tidings and pray.

Actually, however, this is what occurred, because as long as I was alive on earth my disciples kept thinking of a material Messiah who would be King of the Jews in a physical sense; but when I passed over into the spirit world, my disciples were faced with the alternative of giving me up as the Messiah they were expecting or to look upon me as the Messiah in the purely spiritual sense. And with my resurrection, that is to say, with my materialization, my disciples rejected all idea of abandoning me as their Messiah and saw in me the Savior they had sought as the Savior over sin and the way to the Father through the commandment I had given them at the last supper, "Love ye one another even as I have loved you."

And with my death there came to them not only the realization that my mission was a spiritual one, but they were very much affected by their sincere grief and sorrow, as well as pity and sympathy, over my passing in the brutal manner that had been imposed upon me. And this grief and love and sorrow was deep and continual, and it was this love and sorrow and grieving that turned their hearts and souls towards the Father in a great yearning of love and aspiration. And it was this that culminated in the great abundance of the Love that was conveyed upon them at the Pentecost, not that it all came at once, but it had been building up for those fifty days within their souls, until knowledge and possession of that Love burst upon them as with a great disturbance and a great wind. And it was thus that they obtained the Divine Love to that extent that they became keenly aware of its presence and qualities in their souls.

With respect to the spirit world, the situation was different, not with respect to belief, for there were a great many spirits in the spheres of the perfect natural man who were wedded to their religious views and refused adamantly to listen to anything that might upset their long cherished and accepted views of God and man's relationship to Him. But there were many in these spheres who, being devoid of the errors and defilements of the flesh, were willing to seek for the Love once it had been proclaimed officially by me after my anointing by John, the Baptist. And there were some whose conditions of soul were such as to enable them to perceive the truth of my teachings and began to pray and to obtain the Love. And at the time of the Transfiguration there were some who, by the disposition of their souls, had sought for and obtained some of the Love, and among them were even some who were in the spheres below that of the Sixth, which until then had been the highest sphere obtainable for spirits. And thus it was that at the Transfiguration, Moses and Elias, the leaders of that group of spirits who had understood and obtained some of the Love in their souls, appeared as representatives of this spiritual group; and the voice of the spirit who proclaimed, "Hear ye him," was one of those who had obtained some of this Love and was Divine to that extent.

Once a spirit has obtained the Divine Love, and here I should add mortal, as well, regardless of the degree to which the Love has been given to him in response to prayer, a certain relationship between that spirit or mortal and the Heavenly Father has been formed, through the conveying of this Love, which cannot be broken; for this connection through the Divine Love is a link of the soul nature that cannot be broken. ...

I will stop now, for I think I have written sufficiently on this subject, and with my love to the Doctor and to you, and with my blessings and desire that the Father shed upon you both great portions of the Divine Love, I shall sign myself,

Jesus of the Bible and Master of the Celestial Heavens.

Working on this edition of the newsletter impacted me more than usual. It brought so much peace to my heart and soul to see that many of you coming together in prayer for God's Love, and to witness all the outreaches and acts of service taking place within our Divine Love family.

This has been a very busy season for me, with work responsibilities, travel back and forth to the mainland, preparations for audits, and the many tasks involved in getting our home ready to sell before a move. There has been a lot going on, and while I have been praying often, the stress can still take its toll.

Yet, as I worked on this newsletter, I felt a deep peace return to my soul. Reading your contributions and seeing the love, faith, service, and prayer expressed throughout this issue reminded me what a blessing it is to be part of this special family.

Thank you all for your contributions, prayers, and the love you continue to share.

*With love, respect, and appreciation,
Michael*
